

Pollination Game

What You Need

Colorful Pom Poms
Bowls or Tray with Dividers
Tongs or Spoon
Flower and Bee Graphics

Setup

Put a flower graphic in each container. Add corresponding colored pom poms.
(Optional: Affix bee graphic to tongs.)

How to Play

The purpose of the game is to illustrate the relationship between bees and flowers. Taking turns, each player uses the tongs to move a pom pom from one container to another. As the game continues, notice how the colors of pom poms get mixed together. This simulates how a bee gathers pollen and leaves pollen at different flowers. The game ends when your child starts to lose interest. Buzz back to the hive (put your game away).

KindredInspiration.com

